$200,000 MAIL THEFT AT CROSBY

Herman Olander, Mail Carrier, Robbed at Noon

Attacked by Robbers About Mile East of Crosby---Crowd Mail Car into Ditch and Then beat Him

The Cuyuna range is the scene of another big robbery.

At 12:20 o'clock, shortly after noon, while Herman Olander, mail carrier between Crosby-Iron-ton and Deerwood, was carrying the mail to the range, he was held up and robbed about three-quarters of a mile east of Crosby on the cement paving, and robbed of mail bags believed to carry $200,000 in currency consigned to the range banks to meet pay day.

Three men in a green Buick sedan crowded the carrier off the highway and forced his Dodge sedan into the ditch. Brandishing sawed-off shotguns, they struck him over the head, cut his right eye and injured his head.

Two men threatened Olander while the third man stayed at the wheel of the car. As near as Olander can describe the occurrence, which happened quickly, the men were about 35 years of age, wore caps over their heads and kept the visors down.

They grabbed three sacks of mail intended for Crosby and two sacks billed to Iron-ton. They left a sack carrying papers.

The Inland Steel Company expected a shipment of currency to be made to the range banks to meet the payroll. The currency, believed consigned to the First National Bank of Crosby and the First National Bank of Iron-ton, is now being checked by the banks who are keeping the wires hot communicating with the senders of the currency.

Olander, as reported by others, is said to have heard a car following him on the highway and to have heard several honks of a horn. At a point near the Hallet home on the drive, the green car crowded him into the ditch.

Sheriff Claus A. Theorin was immediately communicated with and police of Duluth and other cities notified. Sheriff Theorin sent out Deputy Sheriff Oberg, Deputy Jacobson and others in a fast car to the range.

Sheriff Theorin also quickly notified the postal inspectors at St. Paul.

The shipments of currency are fully insured.

ACOSTA BARRED FROM USING THE CHICAGO AIRPORT

Chicago, May 10.—(U.P.)—Bert Acosta, trans-Atlantic flier, has been barred from using the municipal airport here for ten days.

COL. R. W. STEWART IS IN SECLUSION

Chicago, May 10.—(U.P.)—Colonel Robert W. Stewart arrived here today and immediately went into seclusion, refusing to make any statement concerning his probable reply to the demand of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., that he resign as chairman of the board of directors of the Standard Oil company of Indiana.

Stewart arrived from New York shortly before noon and eluded newspapermen by leaving his train at Englewood, a southside suburb.

FIRE HAZARD IN NORTH WOODS HAS PASSED

St. Paul, May 10.—(U.P.)—The fire hazard in Minnesota's north woods has passed, according to reports reaching here today.

High winds today were given as the only cause that might return the fires to their stage of the past two days.

Although most of the fires are under control, groups of fire fighters are still stationed in strategic points.

SENATE TEAPOT DOME INVESTIGATORS PRAISE JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR.

By HERBERT LITTLE (United Press Staff Correspondent) Washington, May 10.—Senate Teapot Dome investigators today praised John D. Rockefeller, Jr., for his attempt to oust Robert W. Stewart as head of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, as U. S. Attorney Leo Rover prepared to ask a grand jury here today for a perjury indictment against the oil man.

Rover, acting on senate orders resulting from the same circumstances which caused Rockefeller to act in this house-cleaning attempt, said he would go before the grand jury today to lay before it the record of Stewart's conflicting testimony before the Teapot Dome inquiry.

Senator Walsh, the "prosecuting attorney" of the original Teapot Dome investigation of 1923-24 as well as the recent one into the Continental Trading Company deal, which finally disclosed Stewart's one-fourth participation in mysterious profits of $3,080,000, noted that Rockefeller's act followed immediately upon a U. S. Chamber of Commerce advocacy of a house-cleaning.

Speculation centered today on possibility of the ouster movement. Senate observers pointed out that Rockefeller told the Teapot Dome committee two months ago that the holdings of his family and the various Rockefeller foundations amounted to less than 20 per cent of the total of the stock of the Standard Company captured by Stewart.

The request for a perjury indictment is based on Stewart's allegedly conflicting testimony—first, that he did not get any Continental bonds and did not profit therefrom, and second, that he received Continental bonds from Harry M. Blackmer and held them in trust for the companies he represented in the oil deal.

Legal experts here foresee that the government may find difficulty in its attempt to convict Stewart of the charge, if a perjury indictment is returned, because most of his answers on the first appearance were guarded very carefully, even though they did not disclose "the whole truth."

OPPONENTS OF PROHIBITION LAW ACTIVE

ORGANIZING FOR CAMPAIGN OF MODIFICATION OR TO REPEAL EIGHTEENTH AMENDMENT BY 1932

This is the third and last of a series on the prohibition situation.

By JOSEPH S. WASNEY (United Press Staff Correspondent) Washington, May 10.—Opponents of the prohibition laws are organizing for a campaign to modify or repeal the eighteenth amendment by 1932.

Wet leaders told the United Press today they were seeking revocation of the dry law statute not because it outlawed alcohol but because it violates the design and purpose of the constitution.

"It is a fight for the principle of government," one leader of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment said. "We want temperance but we do not want our personal liberties injured."

The association is not supporting the proposal of Louis A. Cuvillier, New York assemblyman, for resubmission to the U. S. supreme court of cases to again test the validity of the dry law.

"That move is fostered by the National Constitutional Liberty League for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and not by our organization," he said. "We believe it is too early for such a maneuver but we will be organized in another few years for a concentrated attack on the law."

Wet organizations do not plan to unite to force the prohibition issue in the present presidential campaigns. They will indirectly support candidates known to have "wet" ideas but there will be no concentrated campaign for them such as the Anti-Saloon League plans in favor of avowedly dry candidates.

Officials of the association claimed the prohibition act was "an abnormal amendment that has loosened the moral respect for law enforcement."

They claim prohibition is responsible for an "unchecked crime wave in America, for the consuming of more hard liquor than when saloons were in existence, and for developing more stills than there ever were saloons."

Proponents of the "wet" issue contend there are now more than 1,000,000 bootleggers in the United States.

JUDGE SANBORN DIES AT ST. PAUL

WAS SENIOR JUDGE OF THE U. S. CIRCUIT COURT OF APPEALS

St. Paul, May 10.—(U.P.)—Judge Walter H. Sanborn, senior judge of the U. S. circuit court of appeals, died early today at his apartment here.

Judge Sanborn had been ailing for some time, but was able to continue his duties on the federal bench until a few days ago, when he returned home from a court session at St. Louis.

He had complained of suffering from a severe cold.

Judge Sanborn's condition grew gradually worse Wednesday. Death was caused by pneumonia.

His death came as a surprise to the bench and bar. He had been active and apparently in perfect health until three days ago.

Judge Kimbrough Stone, Kansas City, succeeds him as senior judge of the 8th district court.

Judge Sanborn was born in 1845 in New Hampshire. He came to St. Paul in 1870 and a year later was admitted to the bar here. The same year he was admitted to the bar of the supreme court of Minnesota and entered a law partnership with his uncle, Gen. John B. Sanborn.

MARGIN OF WATSON'S VICTORY IS UNCHANGED

WATSON SUPPORTERS CLAIM SIGNIFICANT STATE'S DECISION ON FARM RELIEF

HOOVER, HOWEVER, CARRIED CITIES AND INDUSTRIAL AREAS OF STATE

By BERT M. DENBY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Indianapolis, Ind., May 10.—The margin of Senator James E. Watson's victory over Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover in the Indiana primary remained virtually unchanged today, and interest turned toward an analysis of the balloting.

Supporters of Senator Watson, "favorite son" candidate for the republican presidential nomination, claimed that the most significant result of the election was Indiana's decision on the farm relief issue. Hoover's failure to win the state's 33 delegates to the national convention, they contended, was the first positive indication of the cabinet member's weakness in the agricultural middle west.

Although his race against Watson was fairly close, the farm vote was overwhelmingly against him. The rural sections, in fact, saved the Indiana senator, for Hoover carried the cities and the industrial areas of the state.

Reports from 3,307 of the state's 3,610 precincts today gave Watson 203,015 and Hoover 179,002.

Watson's lead was expected to be increased slightly as the outlying rural districts reported.

With Watson in control of Indiana's delegation at the Kansas City convention, the chief subject of speculation concerned the ultimate destination of the delegation's votes.

Few observers apparently believed that Watson would hold the Indiana delegation behind his own candidacy. The general opinion was that the votes would be given at an opportune time to the strongest anti-Hoover candidate.

Indiana democrats accorded Evans Woolen, Indianapolis banker, an endorsement vote in favor of his presidential candidacy. He was unopposed on the preferential ballot of his party.

It was estimated that Robinson's final majority would be approximately 75,000.

The democratic senatorial nomination apparently went to Albert J. Stump, who had a large plurality over Walter Meyers and William Curry.

Both gubernatorial nominees, however, will be selected by their respective party conventions. None of the 10 republican candidates nor the seven democrats approached a majority of the total vote, which the law requires.

CALL U. S. COAST GUARD BOARD OF INQUIRY TODAY

TO INVESTIGATE SHOOTING ON SUNDAY OF JACOB D. HANSON

2 WHO DID SHOOTING NEAR NIAGARA FALLS HELD BY THE AUTHORITIES

Buffalo, N. Y., May 10.—(U.P.)—A United States coast guard board of inquiry was called today to investigate the shooting on Sunday of Jacob D. Hanson, of Niagara Falls, by two coast guardsmen. The board is headed by Commander Charles S. Root of the Washington staff.

The hearing today will determine the line of action to be followed by the government in prosecuting the men involved, Glenn Jennings and Christian Dew, who are now under arrest at Fort Niagara.

Attempts by the state to serve warrants charging second degree assault have proved futile, but District Attorney Raymond A. Knowles of Niagara county intimated he would mark time, apparently believing the federal officials would surrender.

Regarding the activities of coast guardsmen on land duty, Captain Martin W. Rasmussen, district commander, said that since December 3, 50 men have been doing land patrol work along the Niagara river under arrangements made with Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lowman.

Word was received from Washington yesterday that the way was being paved for a senatorial investigation of the shooting following a request by George A. Orr, Niagara Falls attorney.

Hanson's condition at a Niagara Falls hospital was reported unchanged today.

$20000 MAIL THEFT AT CROSBY

Herman Olander, Mail Carrier, Robbed at Noon

Attacked by Robbers About Mile East of Crosby---Crowd Mail Car into Ditch and Then beat Him

The Cuyuna range is the scene of another big robbery.

At 12:20 o'clock, shortly after noon, while Herman Olander, mail carrier between Crosby-Ironton and Deerwood, was carrying the mail to the range, he was held up and robbed about three-quarters of a mile east of Crosby on the cement paving, and robbed of mail bags believed to carry $20,000 in currency consigned to the range banks to meet pay day.

Two men threatened Olander while the third man stayed at the wheel of the car. As near as Olander can describe the occurrence, which happened quickly, the men were about 35 years of age, wore caps over their heads and kept the visors down.

They grabbed three sacks of mail intended for Crosby and two sacks billed to Ironton. They left a sack carrying papers.

The Inland Steel Company expected a shipment of currency to be made to the range banks to meet the payroll. The currency, believed consigned to the First National Bank of Crosby and the First National Bank of Ironton, is now being checked by the banks who are keeping the wires hot communicating with the senders of the currency.

Olander, as reported by others, is said to have heard a car following him on the highway and to have heard several honks of a horn. At a point near the Hallet home on the drive, the green car crowded him into the ditch.

Sheriff Claus A. Theorin was immediately communicated with and police of Duluth and other cities notified. Sheriff Theorin sent out Deputy Sheriff Oberg, Deputy Jacobson and others in a fast car to the range.

Sheriff Theorin also quickly notified the postal inspectors at St. Paul.

The shipments of currency are fully insured.

PRaised FOR ATTEMPT TO OUST STEWART

SENATE TEAPOT DOME INVESTIGATORS PRAISE JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR.

LATTER SEEKS TO OUST HEAD OF STANDARD OIL CO. OF INDIANA

By HERBERT LITTLE

(United Press Staff Correspondent) Washington, May 10.—Senate Teapot Dome investigators today praised John D. Rockefeller, Jr., for his attempt to oust Robert W. Stewart as head of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, as U. S. Attorney Leo Rover prepared to ask a grand jury here today for a perjury indictment against the oil man.

Rover, acting on Senate orders resulting from the same circumstances which caused Rockefeller to act in this house-cleaning attempt, said he would go before the grand jury today to lay before it the record of Stewart's conflicting testimony before the Teapot Dome inquiry.

CALL U. S. COAST GUARD BOARD OF INQUIRY TODAY

TO INVESTIGATE SHOOTING ON SUNDAY OF JACOB D. HANSON

2 WHO DID SHOOTING NEAR NIAGARA FALLS HELD BY THE AUTHORITIES

Buffalo, N. Y., May 10.—(U.P.)—A United States coast guard board of inquiry was called today to investigate the shooting on Sunday of Jacob D. Hanson, of Niagara Falls, by two coast guardsmen. The board is headed by Commander Charles S. Root of the Washington staff.

The hearing today will determine the line of action to be followed by the government in prosecuting the men involved, Glenn Jennings and Christian Dew, who are now under arrest at Fort Niagara.

Attempts by the state to serve warrants charging second degree assault have proved futile, but District Attorney Raymond A. Knowles of Niagara county intimated he would mark time, apparently believing the federal officials would surrender.

Regarding the activities of coast guardsmen on land duty, Captain Martin W. Rasmussen, district commander, said that since December 3, 50 men have been doing land patrol work along the Niagara river under arrangements made with Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lowman.

Word was received from Washington yesterday that the way was being paved for a senatorial investigation of the shooting following a request by George A. Orr, Niagara Falls attorney.

Hanson's condition at a Niagara Falls hospital was reported unchanged today.

FILINGS FOR OFFICE CLOSED AT 5 O'CLOCK WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

REPUBLICAN, DEMOCRATIC AND FARMER-LABOR PARTIES REPRESENTED

By JACK F. HIERTZ

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

St. Paul, May 10.—Three complete slates were on file for the Minnesota senatorial, congressional and state political fight next fall when the filings closed at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. For most of the state and congressional positions, there will be primary election contests between candidates on the same ticket.

The republican, democratic and farmer-labor parties, represented in full force, today began laying lines for the primary contest June 18.

Theodore Christianson, incumbent, will be opposed by George T. Simpson, Minneapolis, on the republican ticket for governor. The democrats will be represented by Andrew Nelson, Duluth, and the farmer-laborites by Dr. L. A. Fritche, New Ulm; Ernest Lundeen, Minneapolis.

For U. S. senator, three candidates seek the republican nomination. They are J. A. A. Burnquist, Minneapolis; Arthur E. Nelson, St. Paul, and A. J. Rockne, Zumbrota. George F. Cashman, St. Cloud, is the only democrat nominee while Henrik Shipstead, Minneapolis, incumbent, and William F. Watkins, Minneapolis, are enrolled on the farmer-labor ticket.

There will be no primary contest for lieutenant-governor. William I. Nolan, Minneapolis, is the republican nominee; Fred Pfander, New Ulm, is the democratic choice and Thomas J. Melgren, Preston, is the only farmer-laborite to file.

Likewise but three names will appear on the primary ballot for secretary of state. Mike Holm, incumbent, is the republican candidate. Mrs. Ruth Haynes Carpenter, Minneapolis, is the democrat and Mrs. Susie W. Stageberg, Red Wing, the farmer-laborite choice.

For treasurer, Julius A. Schmall, St. Paul, republican, incumbent, will be opposed by William A. Just, Rapid, democrat, and Peter J. Seaberg, St. Cloud, farmer-laborite.

G. A. Youngquist, incumbent, will be opposed at the republican primaries by John C. Larson, Minneapolis, in the race for attorney-general nomination. George Cahill, St. Paul, is the only democrat and C. F. Gaarenstrom, Fairmont, the only farmer-laborite to file for the office.

For the office of railroad and warehouse commissioner, nine men seek the republican nomination, while the other parties are represented by one candidate each. The republicans are C. J. Laurisch, Mankato, incumbent; E. G. Hinebaugh, Minneapolis; James H. Rush, Minneapolis; Peter N. Nystrom, Minneapolis; George G. Magnuson, St. Cloud; Carl N. Nelson, Starbuck; Knute Knutson, Benson; Frank H. Putnam, Excelsior, and H. D. Meyer, Carver. The democrat is Vigo Justesen, Askov, and the farmer-laborite J. L. Peterson, Proctor.

No party distinction is made in candidates for the office of the justice of the state supreme court. The candidates are Clifford L. Hilton, Fergus Falls, incumbent; and William H. Vanderbergh, Minneapolis.

In the race for congress, the following candidates have filed: First District—Allan J. Forlow, Rochester, incumbent; Victor Christgau, Austin, on the republican ticket; L. B. Hanna, Austin, and Dr. James F. Lynn, Waseca, on the democratic ticket, and Paul I. D. Ostby, Twin Lakes, as the farmer-labor candidate.

Second District—republican, Frank Clague, Redwood Falls; democrat, J. A. Cashel, Worthington.

No. 20

Published for the information and entertainment of the home-loving folks in Brainerd and vicinity by the Standard Lumber Co.

Next Sunday is Mother's Day and we for one want to extend our best wishes to all the mothers in this community. It is a busy, forgetful, selfish world—otherwise it would be unnecessary to mark a single day on the calendar to remind us of mother—the one person in the world to whom we are always little children in spite of gray hairs or a family of our own.

What 1928 housewife isn't looking for labor saving devices? If we men had to drag around an old ironing board or scrub a splintery floor, wouldn't we holler? A "built-in" ironing board, a pleasing breakfast nook, a bright maple floor, are all labor saving devices now within the reach of every purse, so why deny the wife, or mother, these comforts when it really takes so little to have them?

The coal that our butcher used was bum. He heard of "Standard" and ordered some. Unto his wife he offered this treat—"I never sausage wonderful heat." She answered, "Yes, I'm nearly Bacon."

Clem: "Can't you two settle this out of court?"
"Client: "We've tried to, but the police always stop us."

Lady giving order to waiter on Pullman:
"I'll have that nice big chocolate eclair."

Vol. 3

THURSDAY, MAY 10, 1928

No. 20

Published for the information and entertainment of the home-loving folks in Brainerd and vicinity by the Standard Lumber Co.

Next Sunday is Mother's Day and we for one want to extend our best wishes to all the mothers in this community. It is a busy, forgetful, selfish world—otherwise it would be unnecessary to mark a single day on the calendar to remind us of mother—the one person in the world to whom we are always little children in spite of gray hairs or a family of our own.

What 1928 housewife isn't looking for labor saving devices? If we men had to drag around an old ironing board or scrub a splintery floor, wouldn't we holler? A "built-in" ironing board, a pleasing breakfast nook, a bright maple floor, are all labor saving devices now within the reach of every purse, so why deny the wife, or mother, these comforts when it really takes so little to have them?

The coal that our butcher used was bum. He heard of "Standard" and ordered some. Unto his wife he offered this treat—"I never sausage wonderful heat." She answered, "Yes, I'm nearly Bacon."

Clem: "Can't you two settle this out of court?"
"Client: "We've tried to, but the police always stop us."

Lady giving order to waiter on Pullman:
"I'll have that nice big chocolate eclair."
Waiter: "Sorry, madam, dat ain't no eclair—dat am mah thumb."

A new gasoline experience— actually—NEW MILES per gallon

It is a fact that the new Texaco does give better results—measurably better. It has at once overcome the limitations of the older type of engine and enhanced the performance of the new.

You can't be mistaken. You see the record of actual miles rolling up on your speedometer. You notice the ample gasoline reserve and the fewer filling stops. Your car is the same, but the new and better Texaco is a different gasoline—more miles to the tankful.

That's the difference between dry gas and wet! The new and better Texaco, vaporizing to a dry gas, enters the cylinders and ignites instantly. It burns freely and delivers all its power in that split fraction of a second of the power-stroke.

Wherever you stop for gasoline, see to it that your car draws up beside the Texaco pump. Look for the Texaco Red Star and Green T.

Not WET . . . . . But DRY

A wet gas is an atomized mixture of gasoline vapor with liquid drops of raw gasoline. These drops, separating at every manifold bend, result in uneven distribution and loss of power.

A dry gas, the new and better Texaco, vaporizes completely. It is a perfect mixture of dry gasoline vapor and air which provides an even flow of fuel and power to every engine cylinder.

JOSE JURADO TURNS IN BRILLIANT 71 IN SECOND ROUND

MEHLHORN TURNED IN SAME SCORE IN FIRST ROUND YESTERDAY

By ROBERT C. DOWSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Sandwich, England, May 10.—Jose Jurado, wiry little Argentine professional, was leading with an aggregate of 145 today during the second round of the Open Golf championship.

Though badly handicapped by the cold and wind, to which he was unaccustomed, Jurado went around in 71.

Out ..... 444 553 544—38

Jim Barnes, of the American team came back today after a bad round yesterday, and shot a splendid 73. His aggregate now is 154.

Walter Hagen, iron man of the American team, was out in 36 and home in 37 for a round of 73 and an aggregate of 148 that put him three strokes behind Jurado.

Hagen's card was:
Out ..... 544 353 534—36
In ..... 444 551 245—37—73

The rest of the Americans started late, and Jurado had given them something to shoot at.

Jurado's sensational homeward score, following a comparatively bad start, provided the big thrill of the tournament.

Varying winds blew against him during part of the round. Suddenly they moderated, and with his powerful, flashing drive, several of his second shots passed the greens. As he finished it was becoming comfortably warm and the sun was shining brightly.

Big galleries were watching Gene Sargzen, Wild Bill Mehlhorn and Walter Hagen, the American leaders, and the men with whom Jurado must contend.

George Duncan, among the British leaders with a 75 yesterday, was out in 37 today—one stroke better than Jurado's outward score.

Jurado's wonderful play at the 15th and 16th holes has not been approached during the tournament. At the 457-yard 15th he sank a 10-yard putt for his three. At the 160-yard 16th he placed his drive alongside the pin, and sank a beautiful putt for a two.

Jurado, happy and confident, said to the United Press as he finished amid tremendous cheering:

"I am confident I can repeat my decide second place, and the Y. M. C. A. will meet the J. C. Penney Co. The outcome of these two games are in doubt as the American Railway Express Co. and the Y. M. C. A. are heavy hitting teams, while the Byc Clothing and J. C. Penney Co. have the edge in pitching.

performance easily, and if I get the putting luck I think I deserve, as well as warm weather, I will do better than my 69 in the qualifying round."

The largest gallery of the afternoon followed Gene Sarazen, who steadily was becoming a favorite in the tournament. Sarazen took a four at the first.

Wild Bill Mehlhorn, whose 71 led in the first round yesterday, was out today in 37—one stroke better than Jurado. His card was:
Out ..... 445 533 535—37

Archie Compston, who tied yesterday with Walter Hagen, his victim in their recent match, at 75, went around in 74 for an aggregate of 149, and took the lead among the British team. Compston's card was:
Out ..... 444 443 635—37
In ..... 534 444 355—37—74

Compston's score, tying Jurado's score of yesterday, was the best yet registered by the British.

The largest gallery of the afternoon followed Gene Sarazen, who steadily was becoming a favorite in the tournament. Sarazen took a four at the first.

Archie Compston, who tied yesterday with Walter Hagen, his victim in their recent match, at 75, went around in 74 for an aggregate of 149, and took the lead among the British team. Compston's card was:

Compston's score, tying Jurado's score of yesterday, was the best yet registered by the British.

JURY SELECTION FILLS FIRST DAY

Trial of P. J. Long Is Expected to Close This Week; State Presses
Two Charges

COURT ROOM CROWDED

A. H. Proctor Identifies Money Packets Stolen From the Bank

Eight jurors had been accepted by the state and defendant's attorneys up to 2 o'clock this afternoon in the trial of P. J. Long, now being heard before Judge Martin Hughes. The courtroom was crowded throughout the day.

The state will press the two counts alleging receiving stolen property. "This charge in the indictment alleged that Long received $12,000, that A. H. Proctor, former cashier of the First National Bank of Ironton, now serving sentence at Stillwater for bank robbery, took the money to Long two weeks after the bank robbery of November 9, 1927, and asked him (Long) to keep it for him, which Long is alleged to have done. The money, $10,000, was found in a butter jar in an old pool room in Ironton and has been kept at the First National Bank at Brainerd in a safety deposit box until such time as it will be required as a court exhibit.

A. H. Proctor, former cashier of the First National Bank of Ironton, arrived today from Stillwater and in company with wardens went to the bank to identify the wrappers, labels and serial numbers.

Chester Wilson and Walter F. Wieland, of the attorney general's office, are conducting the case for the state while the firm of Murphy & Cook are representing the defendant.

As originally forecasted, the selection of the jury will consume most of the day, and the trial of the case will be concluded by Saturday, thus leaving the docket open for the start of the P. W. McGarry case on Monday. McGarry is charged with first degree robbery in connection with the hold-up.

THE KITCHEN CLUB had a full attendance on the afternoon that it met with Grandmother Lovett, for the members could always be sure of getting from her, new ideas tempered with the experience of fifty years in the kitchen. Grandmother remembered the time when tomatoes were called "love apples," were grown in the front yard as ornaments, and were considered rank poison! Grandmother had raised five sons to stalwart manhood long before calories or vitamins were ever heard of! Grandmother had loved and lived with her family long enough to know that her kitchen had the greatest influence of any room in the house.

"Many a time," she would say, "I'd want to tell Mr. Lovett and the children, 'For goodness' sake, get out of this kitchen and let me do some work! But I didn't. After all, I was glad they wanted to stay around me and my cooking.'"

"But, Mrs. Lovett," protested one of the club members, "My husband says he doesn't want me doing the cooking. You don't think a woman should spend her life in drudgery, do you?"

"No, daughter; but look at that fine man and those splendid children; realize that their bones are strong, their blood pure and healthy, their eyes bright, because you're giving them the right sort of food—then you know that your work is not drudgery. It's art."

"Get all the labor-saving devices you can get into your kitchens, girls. Make your kitchens beautiful and easy to work in. But don't begrudge the time you put into them, for you're painting pictures out of flesh and blood, and a whole lifetime isn't too much to give, if necessary. . . . Sermon over, girls. What do you want me to tell you about this afternoon?"

"I don't have many," replied Mrs. Lovett. "It's a confession of poor planning if you always have left-overs to contend with. If I have them, I usually put them in the garbage. It's far better to have your family know that they're going to get something good at your table than to give them bread puddings and hashes if they detest them. I'd rather preserve my family's appetite than a little dab of food. Besides, left-overs always call for other ingredients to make them fit to eat, and there's no use in throwing good ingredients after bad. I'll give you a few recipes for left-overs that I have found good, but there's not a bread pudding among them!"

LEAVES FROM NANCY'S KITCHEN CLUB NOTEBOOK

I think we managed to make a modern kitchen for Grandmother Lovett without taking away the delightful home-iness of the one she had. It will have a gray linoleum floor, light-gray walls, white woodwork, light-gray cabinets, refrigerator and table, light-gray chair with a lavender cushion in it, lavender curtains, silver-gray oil stove, lavender lacquered bookcase, a china clock in purple and white, and a foot-stool covered purple.

Keeping Meat Fresh

"We didn't always have ice when I was a young housekeeper," said Grandmother Lovett. "And so we made our meat stay fresh longer in this way: instead of putting it flat in a pan, we set it on a grill, so that it didn't rest in its juices; we covered it, but not tightly."

Left-over Biscuits

Sprinkle cold biscuits with hot water, or dip them in hot water for an instant. Then set in the oven to dry and heat.

Children will love biscuits cut in two, each half with a dab of butter on it, put in a pan with syrup poured over the whole and cooked for a few minutes.

Meat Omelet

Shred or run through food chopper left-over roast beef or steak. Heat in double boiler or in container over boiling teakettle. Fold into mashed potatoes. Make a smooth mound of the mixture, brush it over with white of egg and brown in oven. Mashed potatoes should always be mixed with hot, not cold, milk.

Table on Rollers

"I'm not so fond of taking steps as I used to be," says Mrs. Lovett. "So I had a small table put on rollers. I keep this at my outside kitchen door. The delivery boys put their packages on it without having to come in to the kitchen with their muddy feet. Then I roll it to the refrigerator. At meal time I use it to collect dirty dishes."

TO GIVE "CHEV" COACH

Gruehagen Co. Offers Four Big Prizes in Contest Opening Saturday

The Gruehagen Company has inaugurated an automobile contest, the capital prize being a Chevrolet coach. There will also be three other large prizes. These prizes will be given to the girl or woman receiving the largest number of votes at the close of the contest. The contest starts Saturday, May 12 and ends Saturday, June 16.

Thomas Forbes of Sioux City, Ia., will have charge of the sale and manage the contest, and states that any lady or girl may enter her name or the name of any friend in the contest. The rules of the contest are very simple and it costs nothing to try for one of the big prizes.

Mr. Forbes anticipates unusual interest among a large number who will seek ownership of the Chevrolet and other prizes through the co-operation of their friends. The contest is not a lottery, as the prizes are not won by a lucky number but will go to the person having the largest number of votes at the close of the contest.

"We Can Now Get The Things We Want and Have Money Left."

We were planning to open one of our stores in a far Western town, and the usual announcement had been made in the newspapers of the city. Shortly after that one of our good customers in an adjoining state received the following letter from her niece:

"We are so glad that we are to have a Penney Store here. We can now get the things we want and have money left."

Well expressed, isn't it! We couldn't have done better if we had written the letter to order. For after all that is exactly the aim of every Penney Store—to give you the things you want and then let you depart with some money left over.

Of course we try to serve you courteously and efficiently. A Penney Store is a "homey" place, too, but the solid rock on which we founded our business is giving the people what they want at a price they can afford. You can't beat it.

With the object in mind of organizing a drum and bugle corps, all scouts interested in the same are requested to meet at the court house tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock at which time instructions will be given by those active in its inauguration.

An effort is to be made to put the organization in shape to make its first appearance in Brainerd on Memorial Day and also to establish drummers and buglers in each troop in the city.

Dale Sanders, champion Boy Scout bugler of the northwest, will be present at the meeting and aid in the instruction of the buglers.

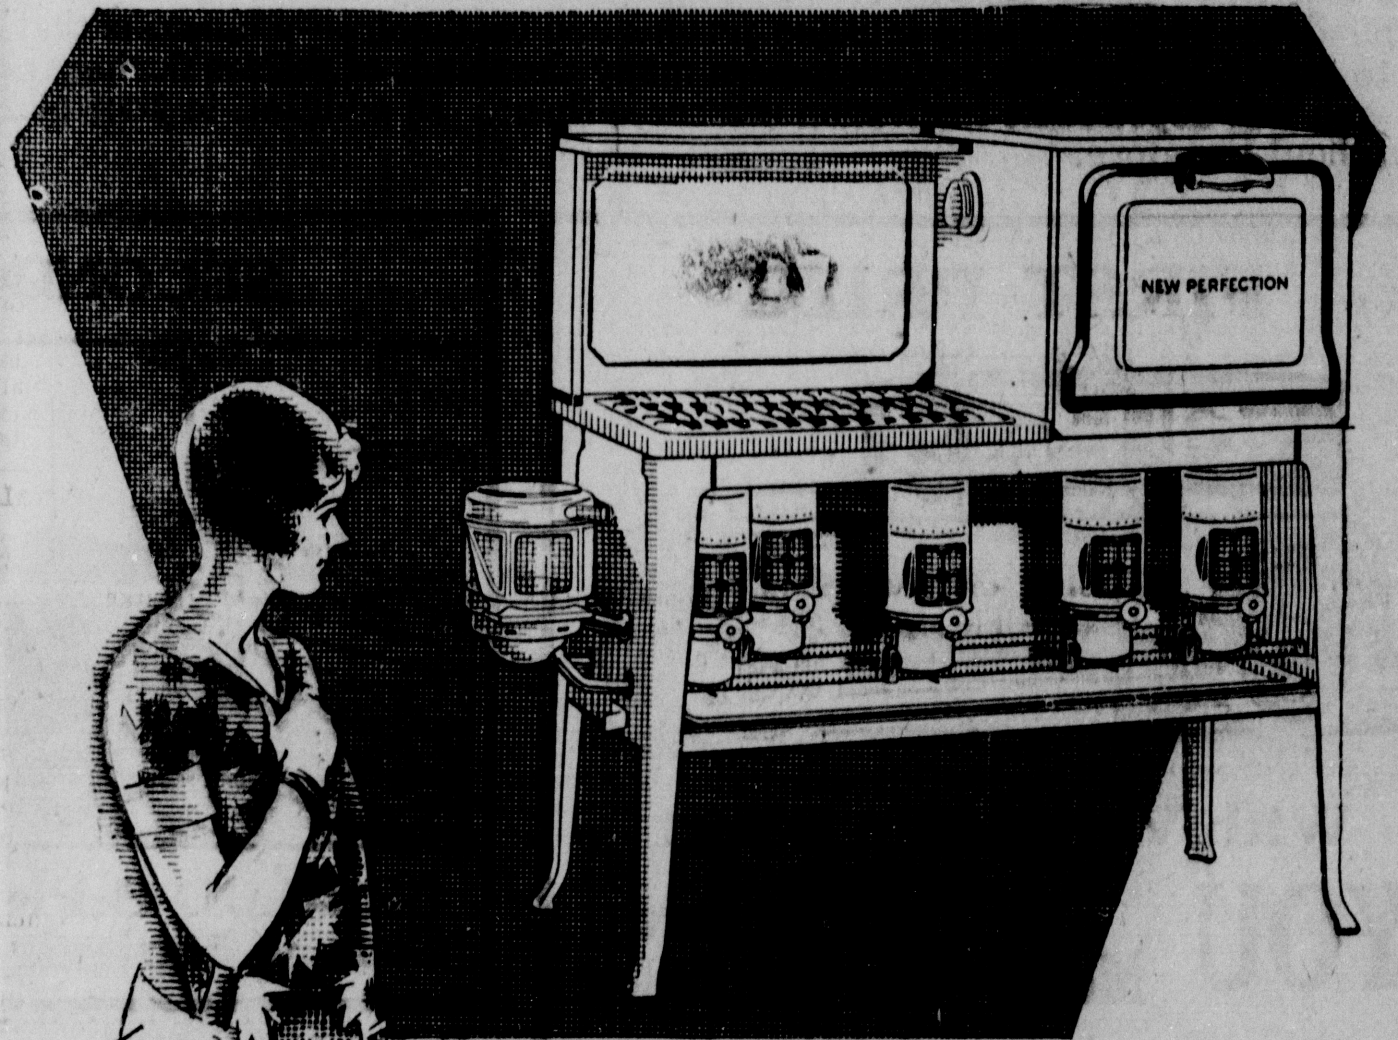

Any boy who is registered and in good standing will be eligible to belong to the corps provided his father or mother or both are willing to sign up and be responsible for the instruments which will be loaned to the boy.

"We Can Now Get The Things We Want and Have Money Left."

We were planning to open one of our stores in a far Western town, and the usual announcement had been made in the newspapers of the city. Shortly after that one of our good customers in an adjoining state received the following letter from her niece:

"We are so glad that we are to have a Penney Store here. We can now get the things we want and have money left."

Well expressed, isn't it! We couldn't have done better if we had written the letter to order. For after all that is exactly the aim of every Penney Store—to give you the things you want and then let you depart with some money left over.

Of course we try to serve you courteously and efficiently. A Penney Store is a "homey" place, too, but the solid rock on which we founded our business is giving the people what they want at a price they can afford. You can't beat it.

ELECTRIC SHOCK PROVES FATAL

Ben Johnson, Formr Resident, is Blown by Wind on High Tension Line

NEAR GRAFTON, N. D.

Was Employed as Lineman Testing Fuses—Funeral Here Tomorrow

Funeral services for Ben Johnson, aged 36, former Brainerd resident, who died May 7, at the Grafton, N. D., hospital, four hours after he had accidentally received an electric shock while fusing a high tension line carrying 20,000 volts, will be conducted from the Bethlehem Lutheran church tomorrow at 2 P. M., Rev. J. R. Michaelson officiating. Interment will be at Evergreen cemetery.

Mr. Johnson lived here a number of years, being employed as a lineman for the Water and Light department. He left the city with his family two years ago for Hoople, N. D., where he was employed by the Ottertail Power Co.

The accident happened when he was testing fuses on a substation line. He is said to have climbed the pole without a strap belt support and to have been blown onto the line by the wind. As he fell on the line he remained there for a short while then fell twelve feet to the ground.

Surviving besides his immediate family, wife and three children, Winnifred, Mable and Arthur, are three sisters, Mable Stephens, Seattle, Wash., Florence Murray, Los Angeles, Cal., Mrs. Christ Anderson, Duluth, and father, H. M. Johnson, of California.

GLORIOUS BETSY

NOVELIZED BY
ARLINE DE HAAS

Copyright 1928, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"GLORIOUS BETSY," starring Dolores Costello, is a Warner Bros. picture of this novel. Based on the play by Rida Johnson Young.

SYNOPSIS

The bewitching Betsy Patterson is staying with her father at Sweet Springs Inn. Surrounded by admirers she is secretly attracted to her French tutor, the handsome La Vert. Two French officers arrive at the inn and salute La Vert deferentially as the runaway Captain Jerome Bonaparte, brother of Napoleon. They agree to give him another hour incognito. He finds Betsy thrilling at the prospect of entertaining Jerome Bonaparte in Baltimore. But realizing that this will mean parting from La Vert she later tries to dissuade her father from taking her back to Baltimore to act as hostess to the distinguished guest.

CHAPTER VI—Continued

"Sir!" Jerome interrupted holding up his hand as though in utter amazement at any such suspicion. "Be assured, nothing is further from my thoughts. I should never dream—"

"What!" Patterson demanded, looking from his daughter to her tutor in shocked surprise. "You'd never dream what?"

"Of following in the footsteps of her former tutors," Jerome assured him in all seriousness.

"Why not, sir?" he spluttered. "What do you mean by such an insult? Better men than you have loved my Betsy." He put his arms about her waist as though to defend her from such imprecations. You infernal—

"Papa!" Betsy stopped her father. "Well, that's enough to drive any father mad," Patterson asserted.

"Sir!" Jerome interrupted holding up his hand as though in utter amazement at any such suspicion. "Be assured, nothing is further from my thoughts. I should never dream—"

"What!" Patterson demanded, looking from his daughter to her tutor in shocked surprise. "You never dream what?"

"Of following in the footsteps of her former tutors," Jerome assured him in all seriousness.

"Why not, sir?" he spluttered. "What do you mean by such an insult? Better men than you have loved my Betsy." He put his arms about his daughter's waist as though to defend her from such imprecations. You infernal—

"Papa!" Betsy stopped her father. "Well, that's enough to drive any father mad," Patterson asserted, still aggrieved at the idea that this man did not seem to think Mistress Betsy the most desirable and most desired of all women. "To think that there should be a man in the world who doesn't love my Betsy."

He looked fondly at his daughter, whose red head quite topped his own gray pate. "But he's not a man," Betsy, he consoled his daughter by casting aspersions at this person who enraged him. "He's only a tutor."

Jerome looked at Betsy, smiling slightly, and bowed. "Why don't you get mad and contradict me?" he demanded of the silent tutor. "No? Well, remember, then, our contract ends when I leave these Springs for Baltimore. Hurry the lesson, Betsy," he turned to his daughter, "and don't mind a word of what he said about Jerome Bonaparte." He started once more towards his bedroom, but turned to deliver a parting shot.

"Whose shoes," he snorted, "I make no doubt he would be very glad to stand in."

"It's the tutor questioned."

"Yes, you," the Major returned with asperity.

"Wouldn't make love to my Betsy," he mimicked. "Nothing further from my thoughts! Ho! I'll explode!" He stalked into his room with as much dignity as his portly body would allow and slammed the door behind him.

"You know I meant no offense," Jerome turned to Betsy after the tirade was over. "But your father seems willfully to misunderstand me."

"Oh, that's a sign of affection," Betsy laughed. "Yes, he always acts contrary with those he loves simply to make conversation and so have an excuse for remaining longer in their company."

"Decidedly original, is it not?" Jerome smiled. "But our lesson—we must continue the French lesson, Ma'mselle."

"Oh, yes, of course. I'll send the others away," Betsy decided. "We can't study, in my suite—Aunt Ellen is packing and she'll be in such a state! Gentlemen," she turned to the group at the window, "may I ask you to retire—this will be my last lesson at the Springs. And I have to pack too. But I will see you all before I leave."

Amid exclamations of regret and expressions of sorrow the men made their bows and promises to be in Baltimore before Betsy herself arrived there—unless she talked her father out of leaving—and took their hats and their departure.

"Mary, dear," Betsy turned to her cousin, "will you please tell Aunt Ellen to be very careful of my new evening gown? She always has such a time with it."

"Why, of course, Betsy," Mary smiled and disappeared through the French window.

CHAPTER VII

Once more Betsy faced her tutor. But now her anger was forgotten in the excitement the morning's news had produced. She seated herself in the chair her tutor placed for her beside the small table towards the windows and rested her arm along its black marble top.

"Do you know," she looked up at Jerome, who stood across the table from her, French book in hand, "you positively made me long to see Jerome Bonaparte?"

"After all I have said?" The tutor raised surprised eyebrows.

"Yes, indeed," Betsy shook her head vigorously. "Is he like Napoleon?" she questioned eagerly.

Jerome looked out the window and over the garden before he answered. "Not very much, and yet," he hesitated, "yet people have noticed the resemblance."

"You know," Betsy cocked her head to one side like a small bird and studied her instructor's face intently. "I never look at the pictures of Napoleon but in them I see a strong resemblance to you. Oh, do let my last lesson be about him."

"How you admire that man!" Jerome retorted sharply.

Jerome stepped back and bowed. "Let us choose something with more heart in it for this lesson."

He spoke so softly that Betsy could scarcely hear him, but she could read the disappointment in his averted eyes. He paused for a moment, as though considering. Then he sat down opposite his pupil and began. "He is all patriotism." He was choosing his words carefully and his meaning quite as deliberately. "To him a man should hold his country as the Romans held Rome. At her call he should forsake all else—his pleasures, his hopes, his love—cleaving only to his mother country. She is his demanding mistress—the ruler of his heart."

"Oh, he is wonderful," Betsy exclaimed, her eyes shining. "I have dreamed of such a man," Betsy mused. "He is greater than anyone I have ever known. I would give anything just to see him—to look at him—"

Her voice trailed off into a land of dreams of her own invention. Then she turned on Jerome suddenly. "Why don't you be a soldier?" she demanded. "Napoleon would not like a Frenchman like you to remain a simple tutor."

"And leave this country—and you—Betsy?" He leaned across the table and gazed into the eyes of the girl.

Betsy drew herself up proudly. "I think nothing should be too dear or too sacred to give up, if Napoleon should say: 'It is for France!'"

"It is for France!" he repeated. "It is for France!" The words rang in his ears with familiar resonance. "But suppose I—"

He leaned forward once more, but as quickly drew back. No, he must keep fast hold of his secret until the proper moment arrived.

"Why, what is it?" Betsy asked eagerly.

"I—I was just marvelling that you, who are so fitted to grace a throne—should—" he started to answer.

"Oh, do you really think so," Betsy interrupted him, her face flushing with delight. "Napoleon's brother may be made king—and he—I am going to—"

She rose and walked about the room, scarcely able to contain her happiness at the very thought of meeting the brother of the great consul of France. Visions of a royal court flashed through her mind. She could picture herself seated on a golden throne, while courtiers came and bowed, doing her homage. The great Napoleon himself would acknowledge her sovereignty.

"Going to what?" Jerome broke into her dream, asking the revelation of her thoughts.

She stopped, startled; then raised her head and answered with a laugh. "Don't provoke the aspiring folly of my ambition," she countered.

"But for your sex, Ma'mselle," Jerome answered, "ambition has so narrow and so circumscribed a field. You can conquer no worlds, wield no swords."

"Perhaps not in the sense that a man can," Betsy admitted. "But how many women are the powers behind the thrones? How many women have inspired the conquests of men—sent their husbands and lovers into battle for their own sakes? Now, suppose I were wedded to some great man. Why, so long as he toiled, I should breathe in his hopes and be ambitious for his honor."
